1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background

The proposal relates to preparation of a Model Document on the principle of contractor accepting to Engineer, Procure and Construct large value roads works. This is normally known as an Engineering, Procurement and Construction (EPC) contract. This system avoids for the Government the risks of increase in costs arising from inflation, changes in bill of quantities during construction, compensation events due to delays and arbitration claims on myriad issues. The Contractor accepts all these risks; and he bids a lump sum amount for the entire work; with inflation proofing in certain specified situations.

1.1.1 The salient features of the EPC contract are as under:-

- i) It focuses on road asset creation and maintenance for a specified number of years by the same contractor.
- ii) It does away with the existing system of separate yearly road repair contracts.
- iii) It replaces the payments for Contractor's 'inputs' by payments for 'outputs'. The reason: payments for "inputs" provide wrong incentive to the Contractor to increase profits.
- iv) It makes the Contractor responsible for both the construction and maintenance over several years. Reason: The Contractor constructing the road is not responsible for maintenance; hence quality suffers as the design is from the Employer.
- v) It makes the Contractor responsible for the design and the quality of the road to ensure overall service quality of the road. Reason: the roads do not last as long as they should because of deficiencies in the original design, aggravated by inadequate maintenance.
- vi) It prescribes the service level of roads.
- vii) It does away with the risks of extra payments arising from inflation, deviations, quantities of inputs being in excess of estimated quantities. The Contractors bid fixed lump-sum prices for bringing (or constructing) road to a certain service level and then maintaining it at that level for a relatively long period.

- viii) It makes periodic payments for road maintenance based on performance service level of road.
- ix) It selects bidders not only on the basis of construction experience, but also on management skills for road maintenance.
- x) It defines the Service Levels from a road user's perspective such as average travel speeds, riding comfort, safety features, etc. It reduces or suspends the payment for any given month if the Service Level is not achieved.
